Execution of Leggett Postponed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Governor Faubus' office announced today that the scheduled execution of Emmett Earl Leggett has been postponed from tomorrow morning until October 25.

Leggett, 20, who was convicted of an Air Force sergeant in December, 1955, had received one 30-day stay from the governor while he sought to study the question of the youth's sanity.

Faubus was just getting into this study when the explosive integration squabble at Central High School broke into the open and required all of the governor's attention for the last 30 days.

The governor called in three psychiatrists from Minneapolis, Minn., to study the youth's sanity. He said that without question the youth is insane. State Hospital psychiatrists found the youth sane.

Faubus likely won't go into the case until the integration situation is completely resolved. And he indicated he will not let Leggett die until a new sanity study is made.

PSC Ready to Give Ark-La Rate Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A proposed change in rates charged Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.'s small industrial customers has been taken under advisement by the Arkansas Public Service Commission.

The commission yesterday received a report from a utility consultant firm recommending the rates be raised from 25.4 cents per 1,000 cubic feet to a minimum range of 30.7 to 36.7 cents.

The firm's report was prepared after a survey ordered by the PSC which is studying a 3-year contract that Ark-La offered small industrial customers last year.

These contracts raised prices five cents but guaranteed firm service which could not be curtailed during periods of high demand from residential and other preferred customers.

A Strange Collection of Exiles Now Live in Cairo

300 Flee as Texas Again Hit by Flood

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Drenching rains swept soggy south Texas again yesterday and rising rivers and streams chased an estimated 300 from their homes in San Antonio.

More rains were forecast today. Downpours of up to 9 inches boosted the totals to as much as 15 inches since Sunday in some spots.

The San Antonio River and tributaries swelled out of their banks here and swirled into streets and homes. Dozens of other creeks and streams in south Texas pushed across lowlands, threatened livestock, closed roads, stranded motorists and kept pupils from schools.

The Freyburg community had 9 inches for a 15-inch total since Sunday. San Antonio had an official 2.07 inches with up to 5 inches in some parts of the city. The official total since Sunday was 8.50 inches.

Civil defense workers and firemen rescued 120 persons, some stranded on roof tops, at the height of the flood. Many were removed by motorboats.

East Central High School closed because school buses were unable to operate.

Schulenburg, 65 miles southeast of here, had 7.64 inches since Sunday.

U. S. 181 and several farm roads were closed for a time near Floresville, 30 miles south of here, after a 6-inch downpour.

By ADREN COOPER

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — After the first full day in high school with white classmates, what does a Negro girl think about them?

"They are anxious to find out what we are like. They are torn between their parents and their own minds. The just don't know what to do."

"That's the opinion of Minnie Jean Brown, one of the nine Negro students who attended classes at Little Rock Central High yesterday while U. S. Army paratroop units stood guard."

All nine said that they heard no jeers or insulting remarks. "Today was a very exciting day," said 15-year-old Minnie Jean. "I had a good time," said Melba (Patillo), 15-year-old 11th grader. "The only incidents were very, very minor."

She said, "When I walked into one class a boy got up and made a speech, urging the other students to walk out. He told the others that they were 'chicken' if they didn't walk out. Then the teacher told him to leave and he left. Everybody else stayed."

The exuberance of the two Negro girls—both plump and large for their age—was in sharp contrast to the reticence of the other Negroes but all the stories were similar.

Did they sit with white students in the cafeteria?

Melba said that she did, but Minnie Jean said that she had trouble with a "barker" and was a little late getting to the cafeteria. "But I had invitations from seven white girls," she said.

Elizabeth Eckford, 15, contacted at home, said that she sat with two or three of the Negro students.

How do the Negro parents feel? "We have done a lot of thinking about this thing in the past 24 hours," said William L. Roberts just before his son Terrance left for school yesterday. "It's almost more than she (Mrs. Roberts) can stand. We decided to go ahead."

"Almost all the parents are natives of this area. Some of them live in well-defined Negro areas; the homes of others are located near white areas. They live in houses that range from poor to average by white standards; generally very good compared to other Negro homes."

At least three fathers have seen military service. Carlisle Walls, 38, father of Calotta Walls, served with an anti-aircraft unit in the South Pacific. W. B. Brown, Minnie Jean's father, was in the Army in World II and was once stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky., the base of the paratroopers now at Central High.

Ernest Green said that his father, L. S. Green, served in World War II.

Widows Get Preferred SS Treatment

Widows between the ages of 62 and 65 were given preferred treatment under the 1956 changes in the Social Security Act. While wives and women workers also can receive their social security payments as early as age 62, their filing before reaching 65 will result in a reduction in the benefit payments. Widows, on the other hand, can file at 62 without any reduction in the amount of their payments as widows.

Any widow who is at least 62 years old, whose husband was insured under social security, who has not remarried, and who has not checked on her social security rights as yet, should get in touch with Social Security Administration Office at Texarkana, according to Roy Westerfield, district manager.

A widow who reached age 62 in or before November 1956 may be able to get all payments back to that month if she files by November of this year.

To assist his office in the prompt processing of her application, Westerfield suggested that the widow bring with her certain proofs. She should have her marriage certificate, proof of her date of birth, and a record of her husband's social security account number. If she has these proofs with her when she calls the time required for getting her first benefit check to her can be cut by as much as several weeks.

Armed Troops Again Escort Negroes Into School—No Incidents

Governors Will Try to Get Troops Removed

From Our Wire Services

NEWPORT, R. I. (INS) — President Eisenhower set a Tuesday date at the White House today for his meeting with Southern governors but made it clear he will discuss more than their request for speedy withdrawal of federal troops from Little Rock.

In a telegram to Gov. Llewellyn C. Hall, chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference, Mr. Eisenhower said he would "discuss problems of school integration."

The White House has made it plain that the President does not consider his action in sending Army troops into Little Rock a matter for debate with the five-man committee of governors.

Mr. Eisenhower will fly back to Washington for the conference, tentatively set for 2:30 p. m. EDT. He may remain in Washington, ending his vacation at the Newport Naval Base.

The conference of 12 Southern governors appointed the delegation to meet with the President for the purpose of "seeking the withdrawal of federal troops from Arkansas at the earliest possible moment."

Mr. Eisenhower is expected to take the occasion to lecture the governors against the "massive resistance" program some of them are conducting against the Supreme Court integration decision.

He would like to use the meeting to smooth the way for peaceful integration in the South, and will seek assurances from the governors of cooperation in the effort to end mob violence and obstruction of the orders of federal courts.

The White House disclosed that Negro Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) urged the President to see the Southern governors.

Powell, who also has an appointment to discuss school integration with the President at a date still to be determined, said the meeting should be held "as quickly as possible for the total good."

The President kept in closest touch with developments in tension-ridden Little Rock today through reports from the scene.

He wired Gov. Collins, who had formally requested the meeting through a resolution passed by the Governors' conference.

"It will be pleasant to meet at the White House in Washington with the committee of the Southern Governors conference on Tuesday Oct. 1 at 2:30 p. m. to discuss problems of school integration."

But Eisenhower, it was clear, promptly rejected the idea of a session at which Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas would sit in with him and the five-man committee headed by Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina.

"Faubus is not in our plans," James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, replied when asked whether the President had in mind a conference where Faubus would be on hand.

Eisenhower met with Faubus here Sept. 14 for a two-hour discussion of the governor's use of Arkansas National Guardsmen to bar Negroes from Central High school. Faubus contends he called out the guard—now put into federal service by Eisenhower—to prevent violence.

Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, who originally proposed the meeting with the President, at Sea Island, Ga., told reporters it was not the intention of the Dixie group to "discuss integration or segregation as such." He conceded, however, that the governors will have to go along with discussion of any topic Eisenhower brings up.

Eisenhower apparently was determined to seek from the Southern governors who ask an audience with him some formula for progressive racial integration of the schools—among the governors did not want to discuss at this point.

Clement said he feels that no matter what topic is brought up there can be some benefit in an exchange of ideas with the President.

Halt Called to Nuclear Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Strong winds early today forced the Atomic Energy Commission to call a last-minute postponement in the firing of the 23rd nuclear shot of the 1957 test series.

Scientists said 100 mile an hour winds were detected at 40,000 feet. They said the winds would have lowered the blast level and caused possible damage to structures in nearby Caliente and Alamo.

The last, dubbed "Charleston," was billed as one of the larger shots of the series, having a kick equal to more than 20,000 tons of TNT. The shot from a balloon 1,500 feet above the desert was rescheduled for tomorrow.

Beef, Pork Best Bets for Weekend

By The Associated Press

Beef and pork will appear on many American dining room tables Sunday, judging from the specials to be offered by the nation's supermarkets this weekend.

Steak is a bit cheaper in scattered areas this week, which accounts for offerings of steaks, while other beef cuts are mostly unchanged. Pork chops are from 1 to 6 cents lower, several months ahead of the price decreases expected for pork products this fall.

Many stores also will feature turkeys and chickens. A wide range of seafood specialties also are available for those who prefer them, including cod, haddock and halibut fillets, oyster stew, shrimp and rock lobster tails.

Fall harvests of vegetables give shoppers a wide range of choice at bargain levels. Cabbage, cauliflower, onions, peppers, endive, escarole, radishes, collards, kale and potatoes all are outstanding buys. Potatoes are so plentiful in fact, the agriculture department says it's thinking of restricting imports to this country.

Sweet corn also is an outstanding buy in areas where it's available from nearby fields.

Good buys also can be spotted among beans, carrots, celery, cucumbers, eggplant, nearby lettuce, spinach, squash and sweet potatoes.

Fresh fruits are in a state of transition with summer varieties on their way out fall fruits becoming more numerous, and even some of the winter citrus fruits jumping the gun. Apples generally are a good buy, along with pears and seedless grapes.

Honeydews are regarded as the best of the melons, shading down a little in price this week, while cantaloupes are a bit higher.

A few Florida oranges are trickling to market, but supplies of the early starters are still light and prices consequently quite high.

Nationalists See Unrest on Mainland

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Nationalist China told the United Nations today the Red mainland is gripped by unrest that may have led to a revolt like the Hungarian uprising. The Communist regime was described as shaky.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the 2-national General Assembly, China's Hu Shih declared events in Hungary touched off two major anti-Communist movements on the mainland in the past few months.

One movement led by student groups nearly resulted in paralyzing Peking and Shanghai with a general strike, he said, but Red authorities were tipped off and checked it by arresting ringleaders.

"It is absolutely untrue that the Communist regime in China has won over the mind and the heart of the young," Hu declared.

"What happened in Hungary last October has proven beyond doubt that the young students and workers of Hungary have not been captivated by fully 10 years of Communist rule and indoctrination."

Recent events, he added, prove that after eight years of absolute political and ideological molding, the students in China are almost unanimously in opposition to the Communist party and government.

Army, Students Greeted Only by Silence

By RELMAN MORIN

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The "Little Rock nine," six Negro girls and three boys, returned to Central High School in a guarded army convoy again today, passed through a line of hissing bayonets, and went inside under the eyes of hundreds of white students, watching in silence.

"Boo," shouted one boy. He sounded unthreatened.

"That was the only sound that broke the stillness. There were no crowds today, hardly a cluster of bystanders. Paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division — on guard by order of President Eisenhower — manned stations again around the big, gracefully-proportioned school.

But they had little to do. They picked up a man, police identified as 2nd Lt. Sidney Wolff, attached to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. They said he was carrying a .38 revolver holster and had a 30-30 rifle in the trunk of his car. He had parked a quarter-block from the school.

Earlier, they escorted a white girl, who was weeping bitterly, from the school to a parked automobile. She's just tired and wants to go home," said a male student with her. "Leave us alone."

Superintendent of Schools Virgil Blossom said attendance at Central High rose to 1,350 today—100 more than yesterday. He said enrollment increased at the other two Little Rock high schools as well.

"I think we will let the figures speak for themselves," he said. "They speak louder than anything we could say."

Maximum enrollment at Central High is 2,000. Outposts, each manned by two paratroopers, were set up, one block from the school at each end of the streets leading to Central High.

At one of them, the two soldiers moved off station momentarily to buy sandwiches from a passing vendor.

About six girls left school before the Negroes appeared, but three of them returned to school after the Negroes entered.

One white girl who stayed away from school yesterday, said her mother made her return against her will, to classes today.

"Some of us are going to get far behind if we stay away much longer," she said.

As students streamed in, a school spokesman said "it looks Continued on Page Three

THE CANVAS DAGGER

CHAPTER XXVIII

Half an hour later he was with Carney in Provincetown. He had had to drive at a snail's pace; the fog was all but impenetrable. Carney said that Bob Brown and Miss Dalwin had gone to the Pink Bonnet, a gambling joint off Front Street, and were still there. The police knew all about the Pink Bonnet, but their hands were tied; it belonged to a prominent citizen. "You know."

McKee knew. He said of the pair, "I figured it would be something like that," and handed over his notes.

Carney studied the names and the jotted information in the red-leather notebook. "It's got to be one of these eight, Inspector."

"I think so, yes."

"And with the Warren girl as a check point, if we can only get seven of them out of the way — Carney began to write on a sheet of paper. "It's too late to do anything with this stuff tonight. I'll begin digging these alibis for last Friday first thing tomorrow."

The checking didn't take long. It was completed at shortly after 10 o'clock the following morning.

Banned in reverse, a washout, a complete bust — not one of the eight men and women under scrutiny could have tried to eliminate Zita Warren in an attempt to cover up the killing of Grahil Melville. They had all told the truth as to their whereabouts on the previous Friday when the attack on Zita Warren took place.

Corney was plunging into gloom. He didn't want to give up. He said hesitantly, "You're sure that whoever killed Melville and Donvert did try to show the Warren girl under a truck, that it wasn't an accident."

"Yes, Lieutenant, I'm sure."

"Then," Carney shrugged hopelessly. They were back where they had started from — which was nowhere.

The next day was exquisite, a day left over from Indian summer, warm and soft and golden. The fog of the night before had gone and the faint mist of early morning had cleared away before the sun. It shone down beneficently on the North Cornwall valley, bathing it in gentle light. The sea was a deep blue, the pond a paler azure; the pines glistened, the oaks glowed.

Steven Task left for his office as usual at 8:25 a.m.; the man stationed unobtrusively inside the grounds of the stone house saw him go. He entered the laboratory three quarters of a mile to the south with his usual brisk stride. Miss Mulray, his secretary, saw no change in him. He checked various experiments, dictated some notes and a couple of letters, then went into the laboratory after an inquiry about Bob Brown. "See if Mr. Brown is in, Miss Mulray."

Mr. Brown wasn't in although it was after 10. "Tell him I want to see him as soon as he gets in."

Later Miss Mulray trailed her boss into the lab, notebook ready. There was a new shipment of muds from South America, little dried cakes, some of them water-thin. The boss was like a boy over them. "Santa Maria, Brazil, Mercedes, Uruguay. Labeled jar of water received each little packet of mud. Stir well and let sit. It reminded Miss Mulray for all the world of her mother preparing a new dish, judiciously, gravely, and with controlled anticipation. She knew that out of one of the jars might come another wonder-drug, another new antibiotic.

The orderly routine continued. The culture dishes on which molds were fermenting were examined; a batch of slides were scrutinized under the microscope, studied, and understood or selected as possible. Steven Task worked on absently until almost 11. Then he looked at his watch with a start. He was expecting a visitor, their Mr. Dikson from Washington.

"We'll eat here, Miss Mulray — whatever in the cafeteria that isn't openly poisonous, and coffee. Have them fix a tray, will you?" He went into his own room then and the door closed. The only thing Miss Mulray noticed at that time was that Mr. Task hadn't laughed or joked all morning.

At a few minutes after 12 Bob Brown entered Mr. Task's office. Miss Mulray saw him as he went past. If there was nothing odd about the boss, if the boss looked as usual, Bob Brown didn't. Handsome as ever, he was the color of ashes. Humph, "tough" night. Miss Mulray thought and settled herself behind her typewriter. Young Brown was on the carpet for something, all right. She could hear his raised voice. He didn't take direction well, he was too young and cocky.

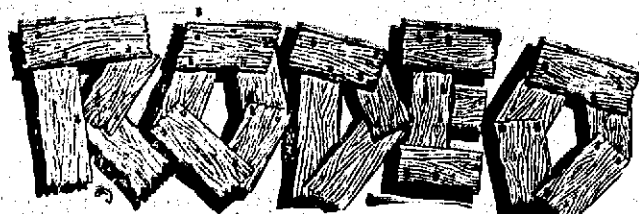

The sound of something heavy falling in the next room brought Miss Mulray to her feet. Beyond the dividing wall Bob Brown shut. "Keep away, I tell you, keep away." A tangle of foot-steps, a sort of thrashing around and then the shot. Before Miss Mulray could draw breath the door of the office opened and Bob Brown rushed out and disappeared down the corridor.

Miss Mulray ran in to the boss. Steven Task was lying sprawled on the floor. He wasn't dead. He was trying to get up. He had been shot. There was blood all over his white coat.

The next five minutes were chaotic. Other people had heard the shot and came running. Miss Mulray was on her knees beside the boss. "The police," he gasped. "Bob — he has a gun. Get it away. Get it from him." His eyes closed. Dr. George and the dispensary nurse came, and Task was lifted to the couch, and the room was cleared. Miss Mulray called the Provincetown police.

First Study Course
On Japan Held in Graves
Home
The fall mission study on Japan for the WSCS of the First Methodist church began Tuesday, September 24 with a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Albert Graves. The hostess, wearing an Oriental robe of black silk embroidered in blue, welcomed her guests and invited them into the spacious game room of the Graves home. In this room an attractive setting was created by a group of potted philodendron rubber plants, and diffenbachia in an indirectly lighted shelf beside the fireplace. On the hearth was a mass arrangement of cherry laurel in a large brass container. Arrangements of pink roses in the room as well as colorful articles from Japan, added to the festive appearance.

In the adjoining room the buffet table was centered with an arrangement of brilliant yellow and orange zinnias and a Japanese figurine, against a pale green wall. This effect was further accentuated with a coral, tinted bamboo wall hanging. Guests were served from the buffet table and then were seated at tables in the game room and in the library. After the luncheon each guest was asked to read aloud her "Fortune" concealed inside the Japanese favor she had received. Each fortune gave some true fact about Japan.

Following the luncheon period the program began with a worship ceremony depicting the close relationship between nature and religion in Japan. The background was an eight-foot, long Japanese hanging scroll on which "God Is Love" was written in Japanese characters. Beside it was a symbolic arrangement of plum blossoms, bamboo fronds, and pine branches placed on a low Oriental table. Mrs. L. B. Tooley conducted this impressive meditation, beginning with an explanation of the three-fold significance of the plants used. Mrs. Dick Watkins read a poem written by the world-famous Dr. Kagawa especially for this Japan study course. Mrs. Tooley answered responsively after each verse of the poem, while Mrs. George Prazier, dressed in a pink silk Japanese robe, knelt before the flower arrangement and touched each plant as its meaning was revealed.

The aims and ideals of mission studies were presented by the study leader, Mrs. Max Bolter, who then introduced the setting for a playlet showing a service in a Japanese Protestant church. Mrs. John Gardner Jr. played the role of an American missionary, while Mrs. George Prazier and Mrs. LaGrone Williams played Japanese characters, all in costume. Mrs. Bolter then called attention to the scene and events in the playlet in order to bring out facts about the important differences between Christianity and other religions in Japan.

Husseini lives in Heliopolis, Egypt. He directs Arab Higher Committee. The mufti has no tolerance with talk of implementing United Nations resolutions on Palestine or any other compromise of any kind with Israel. Hal Amin wants all Palestine united as an Arab state, and nothing less. He is a bitter enemy of Jordan's King Hussein and is barred from that Arab state. In 1951, one of the mufti's relatives was hanged for the murder of Hussein's grandfather, King Abdullah.

After the 1948 Palestine war the mufti lost much of his following. He hasn't seen Palestine since. He fled from British authorities during the Arab revolt of the late 30s. He sat out World War II with Hitler in Germany, then wound up in forced residence in France after the war. He showed up in night in the summer of 1946 in the place of King Farouk, claiming asylum in Egypt.

Three young Jordanians from the old Arab Legion from another sector of the exile population in Cairo, Col. Abdullah Tel was convicted of complicity in the murder of King Abdullah in 1951 and pertaining to the lesson which had been selected and posted on the bulletin board by Mrs. William Reinhardt and Mrs. Fred Ganton. A recess period was called, during which these clippings were read by the group.

Mrs. R. L. Branch gave a complete outline of Japanese history up to the present time. Mrs. Earl O'Neal was asked to tell some interesting facts about Japanese life which had been written to her by her son who is stationed in Japan. Mrs. Branch then told a dramatic story about an early Christian convert in Japan.

Mrs. J. C. Carlton, president of the WSCS, conducted a short business session during which it was decided that the next session of the study will be held in the home of Mrs. George Peck on September 26 at 1:30 p. m. and the last two will be at the church on September 30, and October 3rd at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. LaGrone Williams, secretary, reported that there were 41 members present and one guest, Mrs. Carlton closed the meeting with a prayer.

was sentenced to death in absentia. Tel already was in exile in Cairo. In 1948 he concluded his government was trying to make peace with Israel. He then came to Cairo to ask political asylum. His two comrades here are Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuewar and Ali Hayari, who in rapid succession were chiefs of staff of the Jordan army. Both fled Jordan last April and have since been accused of complicity in a plot to assassinate King Hussein.

An enemy of the pro-Western regime in Iraq, Rashid Ali Gullani, also keeps his headquarters in Cairo. Rashid, Ali almost brought the Axis powers into the Arab world in 1941, when he took over the Iraqi government in a pro-Fascist revolution.

Algerian rebel leaders keep an office here headed by Tewfik Medani. There also is a rebel Tunisian faction, headed by Salah ben Youssef, which hates the newly independent Tunisian regime of Habib Bourguiba as much as it does the French.

Why do these exiles gather in Cairo? For one thing, Cairo is the headquarters of the Arab world, with the Arab league centered here. Also, the Cairo press and radio provide ready-made propaganda facilities for such political movements. Money-short exiles also find they can live comfortably and economically in the Egyptian capital, in many respects the most modern of Arab cities.

like this will be our most normal day this week." Newswen can toward the middle of the black in meet the Negro students providing the only flurry at the school. The soldiers with fixed bayonets remained calmly at parade rest—a relaxed position in formation.

As the second day of integration at the school began under the watchful eyes of federal troops, Arkansas waited to see what Gov. Orval Faubus might do about the use of what he termed "naked force."

The embattled governor, whose Arkansas National Guard was taken into federal service by President Eisenhower Tuesday, will make a nationwide speech on radio and television from Little Rock tonight.

Faubus broke a daylong silence last night to say: "I will make a report by radio and television on the situation in Little Rock and Arkansas to my people and the nation. I have no further comment at this time on the naked force being employed by the federal government against the people of my state."

When school ended yesterday, the three Negro boys and six girls were guarded again as they walked to the station wagon that had brought them.

The Southern governors, who concluded their annual conference yesterday, generally carried home the conviction that Eisenhower had killed off budding GOP efforts to expand in the South.

Gov. George Ball, Timmerman Jr., of South Carolina said the President's action has aroused deep concern in the South, where the tradition of states' rights is strong.

"I don't think any candidate who has the President's blessing is going to carry any Southern state in 1960," Timmerman said.

Thought For The Day
Gossip is always a personal confession either of malice or imbecility, and the young should not only shun it, but by the most thorough culture relieve themselves from all temptation to it. It is a low, frivolous, and too often a dirty business. — Quarles said it.

Many Persons Wish to Wed on Television

By WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP) — Pat Greene has one of the easiest — yet toughest — tasks on television. Even week she reads 500 or more letters and picks the couples who later and themselves suddenly saying "I do" before the cameras of "Bride and Groom" one of the air's sturdiest staples which is now celebrating its 10th year via NBC-TV each weekday afternoon.

The program recently launched its 2400th couple on the sea of matrimony with the usual jackpot of household chattels worth about $2500.

"That seems to be a main reason for wanting to get married on the air," says Mrs. Greene. "Couples feel it is a wonderful start in life free of the installment plan."

"Another reason they give is that they have relatives scattered all over and they can attend through television."

She scrupulously avoids any hint of off-beat romance and enforces such requirements as that neither partner ever has been divorced. The program proudly proclaims that a survey showed marriages made on television have only one-tenth the average divorce rate.

One of the surprises of Mrs. Greene's work is the constancy with which one household item is asked by the brides.

"More than anything else they ask for sewing machines," Pat reports. "I don't know where the career girl has gone."

Baby Doll Is Back For A Second Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Baby Doll is back. Carroll Baker that is, who's in Hollywood to play the daughter of a Texas land baron (Charles Bickford) who is engaged to an eastern Gregory Peck in "The Big Country."

The part is pretty far removed from Baby Doll and that's why she planned it. "After I did 'Baby Doll,' I got a flock of scripts which offered me the same kind of role," she remarked. "I turned them all down. There is a temptation for actors who have had success with one kind of role to continue playing it. But I couldn't do different things I would quit acting."

The girl is resolute. Her bosses at Warner Brothers have discovered that. She incurred their wrath by finally refusing to do the Diana Barrymore role in "Too Much, Too Soon."

She stood her ground despite the studio's displeasure. Her stand caused her to lose out on a loan out to MGM to play the prize role of Grushenka in "The Brothers Karamazov." That's the part that Marilyn Monroe has longed for. When neither she nor Carroll could play the role it fell to the German beauty, Maria Schell.

Wasn't Carroll put out about losing it?

"Yes," she replied. "It is one of the most beautifully written characters I've ever known. I used to worry about such things, but something taught me not to. The role Kim Novak did in 'Once I Was Very Close to Getting Plucked.' I was very upset about it."

"But shortly thereafter came

Picking Winners for Grid Games on Saturday

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UP) — Fralley's
Follies and the week-end football
"winners" — by the same "expert"
who gave you Ray Robinson over Carmen Basilio.

Notre Dame over Purdue — This is always a knock down, drag out battle and it will be no exception this time. The Boilermakers are favored slightly but the Irish could slip 'em a mickey.

East
Princeton over Rutgers — Without the flying wedge.

Army over Nebraska — Squads right.

Penn State over Penn — Still a lot of scrapple.

Navv over WM — Down or up
the field.

Also: Cornell over Colgate; Syracuse over Iowa State; Penn State over Penn; Brown over Columbia;
Boston College over Florida State;
B. U. over Massachusetts; Dartmouth over New Hampshire; Delaware over Lehigh and Yale over Connecticut.

South
North Carolina over Clemson —
The blueplate special.

Duke over Virginia — Bode-viled.

Georgia Tech over SMU — Can't miss 'em all.

Tennessee over Auburn — Chalkletter.

Also: Maryland over N. C. State;
Mississippi over Kentucky;
Florida over Wake Forest; Georgia over Vanderbilt and Alabama over LSU.

Southwest
Texas Aggies over Texas Tech — Ploved under.

Texas over Tulane — On the Longhorn line.

Baylor over Houston — By the bare skin.

Arkansas over Tulsa — Comfortably.

Also: Oklahoma State over North
Texas and Arizona (Tempe)
State over Idaho.

Midwest
Minnesota over Washington —
Good and plenty.

Ohio State over TCU — Wallzing
Matilda.

Michigan State over Indiana —
With a Spartan lip.

Also: Wisconsin over Marquette; Cincinnati over Wichita and Kansas State over Brigham Young.

West
Michigan over Southern Cal —
Mighty muscular.

Stanford over Northwestern —
Real expert, huh?

UCLA over Illinois — They say
it's a toss-up.

Pit over Oregon — Tip from Ado Annis.

Also: California over Washington State; Oregon State over Kansas; Colorado over Utah; and College of Pacific over Fresno State.

Cards Defeat Braves for Second Place

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press Right-hander Bob Buhl and southpaw Whitey Ford, both spotted for starting jobs in next week's World Series, hardly looked the part in closing warm ups for the championship playoffs.

Buhl, who had won nine in a row, was fapped for six hits and four runs as the St. Louis Cardinals halted second place with a 4-1 victory over the National League champion Milwaukee
Braves yesterday.

Ford, picked to open the series
Wednesday for the New York Yankees, was tagged for four singles and two runs in the nightcap ninth as the American League champs split a two-night pair with Baltimore, winning 5-1, then losing 4-2.

While Ford and Buhl were finding things tough, however, Stan
(The Man) Musial and Ted Williams zeroed in on the major league batting crowns. Musial, whose pinch single scored the tying run for the Cards, gained two points for a .351 average. Willie Mays of the New York Giants, Musial's closest challenger in his bid for a seventh title, was idle and stayed at .353.

Williams was 2-for-3 in Boston's 7-8, 11-inning victory at Washington, and picked up two points for a .38 average. Yan-

Bobcats Open District Play Here Friday

The Hope Bobcats open their conference season Friday night in Hammocks Stadium by engaging the Smackover Buckaroos in what promises to be a slam bang football game. Game time is 8 p. m.

The Bobcats and the Buckaroos both have a 1-1 record. Hope piled over Stamps 45 to 8 in their opener and then bowed to DeQueen last week 13 to 12. Smackover lost openet to Benton 13 to 12, but came back last week to win their first conference game over Fairview 13 to 7.

Last year, the Cats went over to Smackover and came home on the short end of a 21 to 20 score. This was the only conference game lost by Hope last season, finishing with a 4-1-1 total.

Other 4AA teams spread out tomorrow night over state: Cranden goes to North Little Rock;
Arkadelphia entertains Prescott; Fairview journeys to Gurdon; and the other conference game will see Magnolia at Crossett.

Hope, Crossett, Camden and Smackover have 1-1 records and Arkadelphia, Fairview and Magnolia are 0 for 2 this season.
